

RSES MEMBERSHIP BENEFITS-PROSPECTIVE

Career and Education Benefits

RSES JOURNAL

A subscription to the RSES Journal, the industry's leading source of technical information for HVACR contractors and service technicians. Members also have unlimited access to the online archive of the RSES Journal going back to 1995.

SERVICE APPLICATION MANUAL

In addition to access to the entire contents of SAM online, members also receive free periodic updates to SAM throughout the year via hard copy. SAM is the HVACR industry's original technical service manual, containing authoritative information on HVACR service, installation, maintenance, application and design.

ONLINE HVACR TRAINING

Enjoy member discounts on RSES eLearning courses—build success online while earning CEUs and NATE CEHs. Visit The HVACR Learning Network at <https://hvacr.elearn.network> for more information.

WEBINARS

Improve skills with the RSES Webinar Series, designed to augment RSES' many other in-depth training programs, webinars feature industry experts covering a variety of topics. Free monthly webinars are geared to help individuals with technical information they can apply on the job. Archived webinars from 2013 and later are available in the member-only section of the website.

NATE-RECOGNIZED TRAINING COURSES

North American Technician Excellence has recognized the Technical Institute Training Manuals 1, 2 and 3 and many other RSES training courses and events. Technicians who successfully complete one or more of these courses or approved events, receive credit toward renewing their NATE certification.

RSES TECHNICAL INSTITUTE

The Technical Institute is a comprehensive course of study designed to help members who desire to attain the highest levels of technical competency. Upon joining RSES, student members are inducted as Student (Student Technician) and individual members are inducted as a Level I (Technician). Individual members have the opportunity to advance levels through course participation or by passing required exams.

MSAC HOTLINE

The Manufacturers Service Advisory Council is an exclusive feature of RSES Journal. The MSAC is comprised of longtime industry experts who answer technical questions submitted by readers. Members can access this benefit in the magazine and online.

CONTINUING EDUCATION UNITS

CEUs are issued to participants of instructor-led programs.

ANSI/ACCA QUALITY STANDARDS

RSES has partnered with Air Conditioning Contractors of America to provide free PDF downloads of the industry-created, American National Standards Institute-recognized quality standards.

CHAPTER TRAINING PROGRAMS

Some chapter training programs are based on the Technical Institute Training Manuals 1, 2 and 3, which provide an extensive course of study for those who desire to attain CM status.

Other chapter training programs may be based on training courses that are available at discounted prices to members covering topics such as controls, electricity, heating, refrigeration and air conditioning and heat pumps. Programs vary by chapter, contact your local chapter for more details.

CERTIFICATE AND SPECIALIST MEMBERSHIP

Specialized Member, Certificate Member and Certificate Member Specialist are classifications of RSES membership. Exclusive to RSES Members (with the exception of student members), these designations are earned after passing rigorous examinations.

Once becoming a SM, CM or CMS you will receive a handsome wall certificate, recognition in the RSES Journal, the right to add initials SM, CM or CMS to your name and advancement in the RSES Technical Institute. Carrying SM, CM or CMS status signifies to customers, employers and the entire industry your knowledge and commitment to excellence and improvement.

NETWORKING OPPORTUNITIES

Chapter meetings, state and regional conferences provide members the opportunity to network with peers and build valuable personal and professional relationships in the HVACR industry.
